

Pathway for Skin Cancer of Anal and Perianal area

The Skin Cancer MDT reviews and takes the lead in all skin cancer cases other than planned excision of a skin cancer involving the anal canal or anal margin; the latter defined as extending distal to the anal verge (the junction of the hair bearing skin) to a 5 cm circumferential area from it. This is compatible with the GMCCN Colorectal CSG guidelines which states that the Anal MDT at Christie will review all cases of anal margin and anal canal cancer
